Dear Sir,

Further to your letter dated March 10, 2008 we would like to inform you that the matter has been brought to the attention of RERA by our client (see email below incl. attachments).

Since RERA is dealing with this matter incl. the threats of your client to deprive him of the property unless he sign an incomplete (no drawings provided for example) and one sided contract, you are advised to instruct your client to refrain from any such illegal actions.

Should your client simply return the said amount my client will of course take all legal actions for compensation and not refrain from making the behavior and tactics of your client public.

Yours sincerely

[redacted]t
